“ I met Margaret in the late 90's through a friend, Glenda Grafton. Then she and I were at the beauty shop at the same day and time. I never saw her that she was not smiling and treating me like she had known me for ever. We would be laughing and laughing at all her stories - not just me and her but the whole beauty shop. Time passed and I never saw Margaret out very often. Recently saw her where we both go to get our hair done, and you would think no time had lapsed. That is the Margaret Riley I will always remember.
